

Hinnli Co., Ltd.

Papermaking and steel & iron processing machines

With a history of over 20 years, Hinnli Co., Ltd. is one of Taiwan's major suppliers of papermaking machines and steel and iron processing machines.

The company's product line includes facial tissue interfolder converting machines, hand towel single-folder converting machines, hand towel multi-folder converting machines, toilet roll and kitchen towel converting machines, tissue paper stripping and rolling converting machines, napkin and dispenser converting machines, wet towel production lines, log saws for toilet rolls, gang saws for tissue paper, and paper box packaging machines for tissue paper.

Hinnli operates three factories in Taiwan, and in addition to individual machines also supplies related components and parts as well as customized turnkey equipment to meet the varying needs of different buyers.

Ibrahim El-Hinn Ph.D., Hinnli's chairman, claims that his company is the second-largest manufacturer of paper-making machines in Taiwan, attributing its success to a constant devotion to quality and customer services. The company's products meet European CE machinery safety standards and are much sought after by customers from the Middle East, North and South America, Southeast Asia, and Europe.

Products are exported under the company's own "Hinnli" brand; backed by its accumulated knowledge and efficient production capability, however, the firm also welcomes contract orders on an OEM (original equipment manufacturing) or ODM (original design manufacturing) basis
