

Yao Han Industries Co., Ltd.

Industrial sewing machines, bag closing machines, roller post-bed lock stitchers, carpet overedging machines

Yao Han Industries Co., Ltd., founded in 1975, is a world-caliber supplier of industrial sewing machines and parts with operations worldwide.

The company, headquartered in Taiwan and with branch offices in Hong Kong and China, runs a factory each at home and in China, both equipped with modern production, quality inspection and warehouse equipment to serve customers from over 100 countries.

This maker began by making parts for industrial sewing machines, and then ventured into manufacturing industrial sewing machines, with an inventory of about 70,000 different kinds of parts, and industrial sewing machines such as bag closing machines, roller post-bed lock stitching machines, blindstitch machines, carpet machines, and heavy-duty industrial sewing machines, etc.

The company's bag closing machine series are hot-sellers, which includes portable and heavy-duty models. Portable models can easily close paper bags, gunny bags and woven bags, and are hence widely used in rice, sugar and fodder factories. Heavy-duty ones are mainly used at ends of packaging lines for rice mill, sugar mill, cement, plastics and so forth.

The company exports 90% of its output to overseas markets, including the Middle East, Southeast Asia and Central and South Americas. In addition to being an ODM (original design manufacturer), the company also markets under its own Yao Han brand.
