Sockets, socket wrenches, socket and wrench sets

Founded in 2007, Jheng Sin Industrial Co., Ltd. is an emerging supplier of sockets, socket wrenches, adaptors, bit sockets, extension bars and related accessories and tool sets for both DIY users and professionals.

The integrity-focused company engages in integrated production, from designing and prototyping to processing and manufacturing in-house, to lower costs and enhance value of products to achieve consistent quality and enable timely services for demanding customers.

Exceptional quality is the core value of Jheng Sin's products, achieved not just by this manufacturer's dedication to strict quality control, but also by various precision production equipment and inspection instruments employed at the factory, which provide precise and accurate data throughout production to ensure minimal variations in production processes.

Additionally, Jheng Sin also takes pride in its consummate electroplating skills cultivated from decades of experience in surface finishing for local hand tool manufacturers. Backed by such competitive advantage, including its cutting-edge black chrome plating and nickel plating solutions, the company is confident of its products being positioned in higher-end segments that generate better value for clients.
