

Yen Sheng Machinery Co., Ltd.

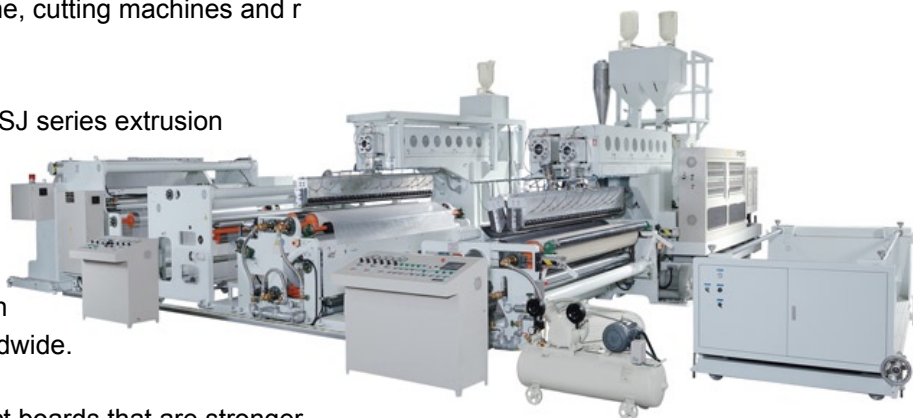

Extrusion coating lamination machine,
air bubble film machine, air bubble hollow profile machine

Ever since its establishment in 1969, Yen Sheng Machinery Co., Ltd. has specialized in developing and manufacturing extrusion coating and lamination machines while accumulating the time-tested know-how and decades of experiences that enable it to stand out in its field.

The company's product portfolio covers single side, tandem type, sandwich type and multi-layers co-extrusion type coating and lamination machines, PP/PE air bubble film making machines, PP air bubble hollow profile extrusion machines, and related auxiliary equipment such as bubble envelope making machine, cutting and sealing machines, bag making machine, vertical cutting machines, perforation machine, heat lamination machine, cutting machines and rewinders, all of which bear the CE Mark.

Of all the company's machine models, the YSJ series extrusion coating lamination machine takes pride of place. When in full swing, this fully automated, reasonably priced machine can produce 200 meters of coated film per minute, a productivity that makes it much sought-after by downstream packagers worldwide.

The YSW-FS series can produce high impact boards that are stronger than traditional hollow profile sheets.

The YSL series, ideal for making industrial products, adopts non-adjustment lip T-die to ensure easy operation just by setting the desired speed, when the series are used to produce products with different coating thickness. The series can also satisfy end-users with paper coating 10 micron in thickness.

In addition to seasoned know-how regarding machine development and production, Yen Sheng also boasts excellent customer services and marketing practices along with the ability to help customers with trouble-shooting and doing business in uncharted markets.
