Taizhou Yihao Steering Gear Co., Ltd., established in 1991, is an ISO/TS 16949: 2002-certified company specializing in manufacturing a wide range of automotive steering system parts.

The firm mainly offers power steering racks, manual steering racks, steering pinion assemblies, tie rod ends, side rods, rack ends, idler arms, pitman arms, tie rods, ball joints, steering-gear connectors and others. With aggressive development over the years, the company has grown into an integrated enterprise with strong development and manufacturing capabilities, as well as a strong sales team to provide satisfactory service.

Yihao operates a modern, integrated plant in Kamen Technological Industrial Zone in Yuhuan, Zhejiang Province of China, with total floor area exceeding 10,000 square meters, and around 500 skilled workers, including five senior engineers, 45 administrative staffers, and about 60 senior technicians. The company has R&D and testing/inspection facilities to ensure quality and high precision.

The company has the advanced, highly-automated production and assembly lines at its factory fully demonstrate Yihao's highly efficient production, backed by technicians who work hands to guarantee production stability, qualitative consistency, and safety of products.

Yihao consistently upgrades products and technology to have built long-term trust and partnerships with customers worldwide, especially in major markets such as Europe, North America, South America, Latin America, the Middle East, Africa, and Southeast Asia. The reputable steering-rack maker insists on operating business by optimally tapping technology and human resources to build trust and be accountable by developing precise, safe products.
