Chea Hwae Enterprise Co., Ltd.

Universal joints, universal joint repair kits, auto parts

Founded in 1989, the Chea Hwae Enterprise Co. is a veteran specialist in the development and manufacture of high-quality, high-precision universal joints. The company markets its products internationally under its own "TOYO" brand.

Chea Hwae claims that all of its universal joints are made in-house using the best materials and top-end equipment. More important, all processes from materials sourcing, manufacturing, and processing to testing, inspection, and packaging are conducted in-house at the company's Taiwanese factory. Every one of the products is 100% "Made in Taiwan" and features best quality and durability.

Chea Hwae's slogan, "The Best Price is Equal to the Best Quality," reflects the company's constant pursuit of better product quality and more reasonable prices, achieved through a long-term devotion to constant R&D work, efficiency improvement, and management enhancement.

In addition to universal joints, Chea Hwae supplies other auto parts such as yokes, flanges, and drive shafts for popular Japanese, American, and European cars, trucks, agricultural machines, all terrain vehicles (ATVs), and boats. Currently, the firm's monthly production capacity totals 200,000 pieces.

The company says that it constantly develops new products and special production methods in order to meet market demand and keep its leading competitive edge in the international market.

Chea Hwae also says that it uses consistent production flow processes and automatic machinery to guarantee the prompt delivery of its products. Detailed product catalogues are readily available, and your comments and special requirements are always welcome.
